Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The concave surface in claims 7 and 11 is positively recited for a second time.

This raises issues of double inclusion.

2. Note, in claim 11, line 2, "ahs" should be "has".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Redmond, Sr. et al. in view of Kreiseder et al.

being less than four times the diameter of the base would have been obvious in order to ensure the stability of the device. Finally, dispensing a condiment would have been obvious as a condiment is a viscous liquid along the lines of the hair care product dispensed by Redmond, Sr. et al. and would have been an obvious use of the dispenser.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ehrbar, Morali et al., and Bonnigue show other bottom dispensing devices.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Joseph A. Kaufman whose telephone number is (571) 272-4928.
